▶▶ ONE of the girls in University Hall, pinch-hitting a day or two for the President's secretary, was called into the inner office. Mr. Wriston was calm about it, but what he said was: "Bring me the fire-bell."

She looked around, saw no flame, smelled no smoke, and looked back at the President with "huh?" on her face. He repeated, "Get me the fire-bell and bring it in here."

She was on her way, wondering if an extinguisher would do as well and whether an alarm ought to be turned in, or what. Fortunately, John McIntyre, assistant to the President, was able to tell her that Mr. Wriston had made a speech in Hartford last fall called "Fire-Bell in the Night." There's been a great demand for it. All the President wanted to do was refer to the text.

▶ GRATITUDE of students is one of the rewards of teaching. A Brown man was in the Alumni Office the other day, 40 years after graduation but recalling for the benefit of Bill McCormick what a fine course Argumentation had been under Prof. Henry B. Huntington. In fact, during this man's day in college, it had ceased to be a required course, but some 30 upperclassmen elected it just the same. To show their appreciation at the end of the term, they'd given Prof. Huntington a little cup engraved with the sentiments of "Company I, Volunteers." We know how much he must prize it.

The visitor was Henry Hobson '06, and he phoned Prof. Huntington while he was in the office. "Professor," he said, "this is one of your former students. Thought I'd like to drop in on you while I'm in town, if you're free. My name is Henry Hobson, but you don't remem—"

"Of course I do," came the reply. "You were one of the Volunteers."

▶ ALUMNI of at least two sister institutions are pondering a dubious compliment growing out of the efforts of Warden Hyatt of the Federal Penitentiary at Lewisburg to compete "with nearby Bucknell and other American colleges in providing good educational facilities for former service men whose education was interrupted by war." In a local newspaper Warden Hyatt denied that the Lewisburg Penitentiary is a country club but would not mind so much the name of "correctional university." "His place may indeed become the Princeton of prisons," said the report.

▶ At least the Dartmouth hockey team will be without the brilliant Riley brothers when it faces Brown this winter. They've all graduated. We're reminded of this as we read an item in the Dartmouth Alumni Magazine (apocryphal, perhaps, it says): "At the end of last season, Coach Jeremiah is reputed to have approached Mr. Riley, Senior, father of the famous brothers, and addressed him as follows: 'Sir, you quit on me too soon.'"

▶ It takes a little explaining as to how it happened, but what was probably the first cheer for Brown University at a football game in the Rocky Mountain area was given last fall. And Brown has still to play a football game in the Rocky Mountain area! Extraordinary! On to the explanation, quickly:

Georgetown went west to meet Denver University. Georgetown was coached by Bob Margarita and Bill Battles, former Brown gridiron stars. The Rocky Mountain Brown Club arranged a luncheon for Bob and Bill. The alumni also went to the game, where they cheered for Bob and Bill's team. At halftime, the cheer-leader addressed the Georgetown cheering-section: "There are a lot of Brown men here today cheering for Georgetown. What do you say we return the compliment? How about a cheer for Brown from us?" The most marvelous things have the simplest explanations when you really look into them.

▶ WHILE we were in Denver ourselves a few weeks ago, we went around to the University to see a seal of Brown which had been rendered in stained glass and installed in a prominent window of the Great Hall. Various members had made similar gifts of their various college insignia, and W. Clayton Carpenter '06 and Luke Kavanaugh '98 had done the honors for Brown. The "sigillum Universitatis Brunensis" is very handsome, indeed, in glass.

The collection of seals is very formidable, with many of the world's great and famous institutions represented. Among them was one for (and we've forgotten the Latin for this) the College of Hard Knocks. Its crest included a black eye, a strong right arm, and the familiar motto "Illegitimus non carborundum."

▶ A Harvard point of view: "If the American colleges and universities could satisfy themselves that success in athletics is not

▶▶ A New Dean for Pembroke College

▶▶ Miss NANCY DUKE LEWIS, since 1943 a member of the administration of Pembroke College in Brown University, has been appointed to succeed Miss Margaret Shove Morriss as Dean of Pembroke upon Miss Morriss' retirement at the end of June.

Miss Lewis, who was President of the Rhode Island branch of the American Association of University Women last year, is now serving as Acting Dean of the college during Miss Morriss' leave of absence for the current academic year. Early last year she was the first woman to be awarded a travel grant by the Carnegie Corporation of New York, and spent several months visiting more than 20 colleges and universities of different types to study their administrative and student organization.

In making the announcement Jan. 8, Dr. Wriston said, "Miss Morriss, presiding over Pembroke College for nearly half the period during which there has been organized instruction for women at Brown, has held a post of high responsibility with charm and effectiveness. Her exceptional competence and personal qualities thus displayed have confirmed her place as a leader in women's education in this country. Brought here by Miss Morriss and working intimately with her, Miss Lewis has established her position in the Faculty and with the student body in such a way as to make herself the natural selection for the deanship."

A native of Lexington, Ky., Miss Lewis was first appointed to the Pembroke administration as social director in 1943, after six years as counselor with particular duties in academic advising at the Woman's College of the University of North Carolina.

She was made Assistant Dean of Pembroke in 1944, and in this capacity organized the present counseling system to guide students in their choice of courses. With the success of this program, particularly among Freshmen, and because of her growing interest and experience in the academic side of student affairs, Miss Lewis was given, in 1947, the College's newly-created post of Dean of Students.

In addition to her administrative status, she also taught as a member of the Mathematics Department at Brown until last year. A mathematics major at college, she took both Bachelor and Master of Arts degrees at the University of Kentucky, and later did further graduate work at Syracuse University. She is a member of Phi Beta Kappa and also belongs to the National Association of Deans of Women and to the national A.A.U.W.

Miss Morriss' retirement comes after 27 years as Dean of Pembroke, a position to which she was appointed in 1923. Without leave since 1929, she has spent this year mostly in travel and plans a trip to the Caribbean shortly. A past National President of the A.A.U.W. and active promoter of Pembroke's expansion, she was feted by the college and the alumnae in June of 1948 on the occasion of her 25th anniversary as Dean. At that time, too, she was awarded an honorary degree from Brown.

Miss Morriss, who resides in Noank, Conn., also holds honorary degrees of doctor of letters from Russell Sage College, Mount Holyoke and Rhode Island State, and Doctor of Humane Letters from Goucher College. A graduate of Goucher in 1904, she received her Ph.D. from Bryn Mawr in 1911. For the 15 years between 1908 and coming to Pembroke, Miss Morriss served Mount Holyoke College, first as instructor and later as Associate Professor of History and Secretary of the Board of Admission. She was made an Associate Professor of American history at Brown upon becoming Pembroke's Dean, and in 1932 was promoted to full Professor.

Among the many organizations to which she belongs are the American Historical Society, the Consumers League, the League of Women Voters and the Rhode Island School of Design. She is a member of Phi Beta Kappa.

Among the offices she has held in educational societies are the Presidency of the New England Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools in 1941, the second vice-chairmanship of the American Council on Education in 1940 and 1941, and the first vice-presidency of the National Association of Deans of Women, 1926-28. She also took a prominent part in organizing the 1947 convention of the National Committee on Education. ◀

What We Lack in Archives ◀ ◀

BY W. EASTON LOUITT '25

Brown University Archivist

▶▶ THE ARCHIVES of Brown University serve as a depository for all kinds of material relating to Brown. On the completeness of the material rests the ability of the staff to serve in answering the numerous questions which arise concerning the history of the University and individuals who are or have been associated with it. The matter of the policy to be followed in connection with the Archives has recently been studied, and there has also been some consideration of methods of keeping the collections currently up to date. This has resulted in a survey to determine the resources and the shortcomings of this section of the Library.

While it is probably desirable to touch only lightly on the official records of the University itself, it is necessary to point out that student records prior to the fall of 1827 are not in the Archives, with the exception of the record of books taken from the Library. "Records of Students Admitted," which give the name, date of admission and the name of parents or guardian, begin with the administration of President Wayland, as do the "Student Records" and the "Student Accounts." It is not known what has happened to these records or whether they are still in existence. If any reader has knowledge of them, or if anyone knows of the descendants of President Wayland's predecessors, Presidents Manning, Maxcy, or Messer, that information would be welcome to the Archivist.

Since 1927 the Archives has a relatively complete file and duplicate of all theses for Master's and Doctor's degrees, with the exception of the war years when certain theses were confidential. Prior to this date there are gaps, and the Library would welcome duplicates.

▶ GAPS IN THE ARCHIVES collection begin on the undergraduate level. Copies of prize essays are extremely haphazard; the Samuel C. Lamport prize is represented by one essay, the Susan Colver Rosenberger prize, the Preston Gurney prize, the Class of 1873 prize all by one, while the Philo S. Bennett, Bishop McVicker, and Clarkson S. Collins prizes are represented by none. Copies of student commencement addresses are scattered; for example for 1770 to 1773, 1799 to 1805, 1807 to 1895 inclusive, there are none. After 1900 the situation improves very little and there are none for 1900 to 1908, 1912 to 1915, or for 1921 to 1941.

Undergraduate societies are poorly represented and there is usually much difficulty in obtaining copies even of current student publications such as Brunonia. When it is known that numbers of such publications have appeared, an effort can be made to obtain them, but there are undoubtedly ephemeral items of the publication of which no notice is received. Copies of the plays submitted in the one-act play competition have been fairly consistently received, but scores or librettos of Brown-brokers performances from 1935 to date number only seven. There are almost no programs for the concerts given by the Glee Club or other Musical groups connected with the University. The Brown-Pembroke concert series' programs for 1928-29 to 1930-31 are the only ones in the collection.

Student notes taken on courses given at the University are negligible in numbers. There are a few scattered ones for the 19th century, but far too few to be of any significance in a study of the curriculum or of the development of the teaching of specific subjects. There are none, so far as is known, for the 20th century. This applies equally to notes for lectures or outlines of courses prepared by members of the Faculty for their classes. The holding of the examination papers is fairly complete for 1882-86, 1894-98, 1911-18 and complete for 1945 to date. For the years 1928 to 1940 there are papers in Spanish, French, Italian, and German only.

▶ OBSOLETE RECORDS of societies whether undergraduate or Faculty are poorly represented; there are none, for example, of the Faculty Club, the Ladies of the Faculty, Phi Beta Kappa Society (which maintains the file of its own records), Sigma Xi (except for Treasurer's records for 1904-17), English Club, History Club, or Modern Languages Club, or the Medical School. Some records of the early 19th century societies such as the Philhellenian, Philophysian, Federal Adelphe, and United Brothers are in the Archives collection, but there is nothing comparable for the later 19th or for the 20th century.

Few copies of lectures sponsored by the University or Unioorganizations have been received. The Marshall Woods lectures are represented by two (1935 and 1947); there are no Colver lectures since 1941, none of the Mandeville lectures and none of the Appleton lectures. Addresses and poems delivered before the Phi Beta Kappa Society are fairly complete from 1831 to 1851; there is an address for 1871 and one for 1937. There are none of the Sigma Xi addresses and no copies of papers read before the History Club, English Club, or other such undergraduate group. Papers presented by Brown Faculty to the Rhode Island Philosophical Society are not represented. There are two of the papers given before the

AT WASHINGTON'S WINTER DINNER, Senator Theodore Francis Green '87 was at his entertaining best. At left, Vice-President Bruce M. Bigelow, the principal speaker, and retiring Brown Club President, George Hurley, Jr. '48. This and other features of an exceptionally active period in alumni affairs are described elsewhere in this issue.

Friends of the Library of Brown University. With very few exceptions. Commencement addresses of special speakers have not been received.

The picture and print file, since it has been built up almost entirely from gifts and bequests, is haphazard. The period of the class photograph albums (i.e. 1857-1899) is the best covered both from the point of view of individuals and of buildings, but even for that period there is little variety in the pictures of buildings and there are only undergraduate pictures of individuals. Since 1900 there are prints of very few of the alumni or of the Faculty. There are even fewer of the alumnae of Pembroke.

(This catalogue of needs, of course, might point out that such material about Brunonians is on file in the Alumni Office, the Alumnae Office at Pembroke, and the Graduate School Office. In general, duplication has been avoided in that these offices collect information about the alumni, while works by the alumni and photographic material go to Archives. Much material about the Brown Classes is also retained in the Alumni Office.—Ed.)

The University Library for many years has endeavored to build up in the Archives as complete a collection as possible of all books and pamphlets written by its alumni. Manuscript drafts or galley proofs of books by Brown graduates are also sought. Bibliographical records of alumni are being compiled and information on this subject about either living or deceased authors associated with Brown is always welcome. Through the courtesy of the late Zechariah Chafee and others this bibliography has been completed from 1769 to 1925 and material as noted has been added from 1925 to date.

The Class of 1905 has deposited its Class History in the Archives, and it is suggested that other Classes follow this practice and also that Class Secretaries direct that their records eventually be turned over to the Archives.

▶ IT MAY APPEAR from the foregoing that undue emphasis has been placed on the material that is missing from the Archives, but that has been deliberately done in the hope that readers may be in a position to fill in some of the breaches noted. There remains in the Archives a great deal of material which is available to students of the history of Brown University and the people associated with it.

The most common requests are for biographical information. Large collections of correspondence such as the recent gift of over twenty-three hundred items from the family of Francis Wayland are extremely helpful in supplying obscure facts. These papers were in the possession of the family for about a hundred years, and their recent acquisition by Brown gives rise to the hope that papers of his predecessors may similarly have been saved. Students' and professors' diaries and notes taken in class are also desired. "Memories of Brown" refers to the diary of Prof. John W. P. Jenks which is divided into two parts, "The Biography" and "The Journeys." Recently, through the courtesy of his grandson, Roger Pierce Jenks of the Class of 1921, the Library has received "The Journeys" and the promise of one of the six copies of the typescript of "The Diary" together with copies of his books.

In addition to many filing case drawers of uncatalogued material there are over 10,000 catalogued manuscripts. Besides this as special collections of alumni and Faculty manuscripts not included in Archives are the Lester F. Ward collection, the Mellinger Henry ballad collection, and the Harry Lyman Koopman, Albert Gorton Greene, Eli Thayer, and Jonathan Russell papers. Smaller collections of recordings, sheet music, broadsides, medals, lantern slides, photographs, and moving pictures and many large boxes of prints are included in Archives. Books in Archives run to nearly fourteen thousand.

Miss Marion E. Brown, in charge of Special Collections, has furnished most of the information on what the Archives lack and she will welcome any material or information as to the present location of material which properly should be added to the Archives. ◀

▶ Two Great Losses

Hughes and Collins Died Jan. 21

▶ BROWN UNIVERSITY and the alumni body sustained two great losses in January with the deaths of Charles Evans Hughes, Jr., '09, member of the Board of Fellows, and James C. Collins '92, Secretary of his Class, Chief Marshal of the 1942 Commencement procession, and recipient of an honorary degree in 1947.

Mr. Hughes, cited in 1937 when he received an honorary LL.D. as "the embodiment of public spirit," died Jan. 21 in a New York hospital after an operation for a brain tumor. He was the son of the late Chief Justice Charles Evans Hughes '81 and father of Charles Evans Hughes 3rd '37. He was Solicitor General of the United States under President Hoover but resigned when his father returned to the Supreme Court. New York had publicly recognized him as an outstanding citizen. A member of the Brown Corporation since 1933, he had made many contributions to the welfare of the University, notable ones. The universal tributes were sorrowful in their praise of one of Brown's most distinguished alumni.

Mr. Collins died the same night in Providence, having been active in the practice of law through this winter. He had represented Brown University in the matter of final appeals in connection with the Barker will case in Florida. Fred B. Perkins '19, speaking for the Rhode Island bar, said:

"Mr. Collins stood at the top of his profession. No man in my day at the bar of this State has equaled the contribution he has made to the administration of justice. As Assistant Attorney General, Chairman of the Board of Bar Examiners, Chairman of the National Conference of Bar Examiners (he was its first), President of the R. I. Bar Association, and in many other positions of trust and confidence in both the Rhode Island and American bar associations, he accepted every duty with enthusiasm at the prospect of being able to perform worthwhile public service. He personified the best ideals of the legal profession." Among his honors was that of honorary election to Phi Beta Kappa. ◀

Phoenix Promotes Goodell

▶ DIRECTORS of the Phoenix Mutual Life Insurance Company have appointed Dr. Robert A. Goodell '24 of Wethersfield, Conn., to be the Company's Medical Director. He has been on its medical staff since 1930 as Assistant Medical Director and, more recently, as Associate Medical Director. He is chairman of the Heart Committee of the Connecticut Heart Association, an active member of the medical staff of McCook Memorial Hospital, and Chairman of the Advisory Committee of the Hartford Medical Society. During the war he was a Navy Commander, serving at Okinawa and as Chief of Medicine on a hospital ship at Sasebo. He is presently Battalion Medical Officer in the Naval Reserve in Hartford. ◀

Universal's V. P.

▶ LEON GOLDBERG '21 has been brought back east by Universal Pictures Company. His duties are those of Vice-President and Treasurer. His family expects to move east from Los Angeles in June. ◀

New Shoulders to the Wheel ◀ ◀

▶▶ AN OPEN WINTER and warm weather have been helping the construction schedule of the Brown Housing program, and work on the Refectory has pushed ahead. In mid-January the foundation and basement floor of the building were complete, and the start had been made on erecting walls and columns necessary to carry the first floor. In other areas of the Quadrangle site, houses continue to make way for the future. The last tenants on Benevolent St. were on the move in anticipation of a somewhat earlier start on the housing units this spring.

Present predictions estimate that the dining hall will be completed this fall and the dormitory buildings about a year later.

On Jan. 15 the Fund had reached a total of $4,315,000. Included in it was a recent gift of $50,000 from the Kresge Foundation of Detroit and $10,000 from the Mary E. Dexter Fund, Inc., of Providence. The latter has been designated for the Zechariah Chafee Memorial, which now totals $58,000. Of this amount $38,000 has been donated by the Mary E. Dexter Fund and the balance by members of the Chafee family. The memorial will be in the form of a library and a lounge in the new Alpha Delta Phi fraternity quarters, one of the 17 fraternity units in the Quadrangle.

Start of the second phase of the Campaign in new areas and clean-up work in others have marked the last two months' activity. Thomas B. Appleget '17, Brown's new Vice-President, is now giving executive direction at headquarters under the National Chairman. Claude R. Branch '07. Robert O. Loosley began on Feb. 1 his new duties with the Greater New York Fund, to accept which he resigned as Secretary of the University.

▶ HEADQUARTERS in January released new personnel lists that suggest the extent and quality of the work for the drive by the volunteer army of campaigners.

W. Russell Burwell '15 is Regional Chairman for the Great Lakes and Ohio Valley territory. Ohio's Chairman is Roy H. Smith, Jr., '34, with Cleveland a major center of activity under Myron S. Curtis '07.

Cleveland teams include: Ralph Briggs '31, Captain, D. Stuart Clarke '31, W. Kenyon Glor '27, William Parker '33. John H. Brigleb '40, Captain, Harold R. Moorhouse '24, Malcolm W. CHAIRMAN OF
NEW YORK'S
BIG DINNER:
Henry T. Samson '19, former Director of
U. S. China Relief
Mission, heading the planning committee for the annual midwinter reunion.

New York Reunion March 23

► FOR MORE THAN 80 YEARS the dinner of Brown men in New York City has provided one of the major reunions apart from the Commencement season and fall Homecomings. This year the event, which draws alumni from far beyond the metropolitan area, will be held March 23rd at the Hotel Roosevelt, according to President Frederick H. Rohlf's '26 of the Brown University Club in New York.

Henry T. Samson '19, returned from China, has agreed to head up the dinner committee. The blueprint of the evening is tentative, but it includes plans for a salute to the new Vice-President Thomas B. Appleget and to Coach Engle and his co-captains, Joe Paterno and John Scott, as representatives of the 1949 football team. Dean Kenneth Johnson '19 of the New York School for Social Work will be toastmaster. Greetings are hoped for from Samuel T. Arnold '13, Provost, Arthur B. Homer '17, and James L. Palmer '19. Dr. Arnold would represent the University in the absence of President Wriston, Homer would speak concerning the physical future of the University as head of the great Housing and Development enterprise, and Palmer would be a keynoter for the Alumni. Other visitors from College Hill would be introduced, and the reunion element will be stressed.

► Victors at the Polls

►► THREE BRUNONIANS have been in the political limelight in recent weeks. William B. Widnall '26 was the victor in a special New Jersey election to fill the Congressional seat vacated by J. Parnell Thomas, having previously given the Republican organization a surprise by winning the party primary in January. In Massachusetts Lt. Comdr. William H. Bates '40 won the Republican trials as a candidate to succeed his late father in Congress from the Sixth District. Roy Tascoc Davis '10 of Sandy Spring, Md., is spoken of as a likely Republican choice for Governor in the next Maryland contest.

Widnall's real battle came in the primaries. Having won there, he was elected over his Democratic opponent by a 2-1 margin in the normally Republican Sixth District. To get on the ballot, however, he had to lick the Republican organization, which was running the former major-league ball player, Harry Harper, New Jersey's Labor and Industry Commissioner. That took some doing. But all accounts are that the Brunonian and his wife made an amazing campaign of it, winning by 13,413 to 13,114. The party leaders had anticipated no such trouble from the revolt led by Widnall. After the primary, one of the chieftains said: "Let's face it, he pulled a Truman on us."

Widnall has been serving his fourth term in the New Jersey Assembly, with a good record there. According to the Flemington Democrat, he had attained seniority status on several committees, but the Republican organization, in reorganizing the House, had shifted him from his most important committee assignments. It may have influenced his decision to run against Harper for Congress. It was widely acknowledged that he put up a "terrific fight," with strong backing from independent committees, particularly from women's organizations. He had entered politics in 1946, according to a writer in the Newark Sunday News. That was his first bid for office, "unless you want to count the time I ran for Class Treasurer in College," as Widnall put it.

Bates' success in Massachusetts was unusual in that he won without making a single promise. Navy regulations prevented him from making even one speech in his own behalf and from saying or writing anything for publication on anything pertaining to his campaign. More than 6000 women, however, attended coffee parties in 26 communities on the day support was first organized. The former Brown football player defeated his two opponents by a surprising margin of 26,636 to 4145 and 87. His district includes his home town of Salem and Haverhill, which his father Congressman George J. Bates had represented until his death in the Washington airport collision of Nov. 1. Bill Bates had enlisted in the Navy in July, 1940, as an apprentice seaman, rising rapidly through the ranks. Serving on the Vicksburg and Miami, he was in the battles of Iwo Jima and Okinawa.

MOSES BROWN TRIBUTE FOR
DR. THOMAS:

When the School observed the 25th anniversary of the appointment of its headmaster, staff and faculty gave a scroll. Arthur W. Cate '14 made the presentation to Dr. Thomas, center, while the assistant headmaster, Oliver J. B. Henderson '07, looks on. (Photo by Providence Journal.)

Preceding them in Washington are U. S. Senators Theodore Francis Green '87 and Edward L. Leahy '08, both Democrats from Rhode Island.

Our cue on Roy Tascoe Davis is a clipping from the Kansas City Star, interested because Davis is a native Missourian. Dick Shoop, the paper's Washington correspondent wrote on Jan. 26 that Davis was "believed the choice of Maryland Republican leaders to oppose Governor Preston Lane, Jr., for re-election." He was at one time Business Manager of Stephens College and later was Minister to Guatemala, Costa Rica and Panama. After leaving the diplomatic service he and a group of associates bought National Park College, an exclusive girls' school at Forrest Glen, Md. The property was sold to the Government at the start of the war and was converted into hospital uses.

Davis has been active in Republican politics for the last eight years and is currently a member of the Maryland Senate. The State went Republican in the 1948 elections.▲

Jubilee at Moses Brown

► MOSES BROWN SCHOOL made a great occasion of it, quite properly, for it was the 25th anniversary of Dr. L. Ralston Thomas as Headmaster. And from near and far came messages and bearers of congratulations.

Among the greetings was one from President Wriston as spokesman for Brown, pointing out that for 16 of the 25 years Dr. Thomas had also served as a Trustee of the University. "By his presence on our Corporation," Dr. Wriston said, "the bonds between the two schools have been reaffirmed and strengthened. Many of our most prominent alumni received their secondary school education under his wise guidance; through his close association with two of the oldest institutions of learning in America he holds a unique place among the educators of today. On behalf of his colleagues on the Corporation and his many other friends at the University, I extend our sincere congratulations and our hope that the community will continue to have the benefit of his outstanding leadership in the field of education for many years to come."

Another tribute that must have meant much to Dr. Thomas came over the name of Oliver J. B. Henderson '07. As Assistant Headmaster, he spoke for the Faculty and Staff: "Under his wise guidance the School has prospered; his associates have enjoyed a kind and efficient leadership; and the school life in general has become the reflection of his good will and his broad outlook." ◀

Convocation for Baptists May 22

► WHEN THE NORTHERN Baptist Convention holds its meetings in Boston in May, a visit to Providence is planned, in part as a Roger Williams pilgrimage. In honor of the large group, Brown University will hold a special Convocation in the First Baptist Meeting House on May 22. The exercises will recognize the Baptist leadership in the founding of the College and its long affiliation.

In view of the national interest in the preservation of the Meeting House and the Convention's activities toward that end, it is appropriate that the visitors should come to this Baptist shrine. They will also visit the spot where Roger Williams landed, the spring around which he envisioned the growth of Providence, his grave, and the monument at Prospect Terrace.

The Convention's campaign to care for the future of the Meeting House has a goal of $200,000, and in 7000 Baptist churches in 32 States 200,000 Baptists are being asked to contribute a dollar apiece. Gifts are coming in as well from others than Baptists because of the building's importance. Leaders in the project are Leon S. Gay '06 and Harold B. Tanner '09. Moderator of the Charitable Baptist Society, the incorporated body of the First Baptist Church is Prof. Arthur E. Watson '88. Other officers are Dr. Bruce M. Bigelow '24, Deputy Moderator; Prof. Alfred S. Cleaves '28, Clerk; Norman S. Watson '37, Auditor. ◀

Retiring at Horace Mann

▶ DR. CHARLES C. TILLINGHAST '06, Principal of Horace Mann School in New York, will retire at the end of this school year in June, the Trustees announced late in January. "It is not possible in this short space to express to Dr. Tillinghast the deep gratitude and affection in which he is held by all the friends of Horace Mann," says the statement. "He has been Principal since 1920. The growth of the School under his leadership can be measured in many ways, but perhaps the truest measure is that it has offered a constantly finer education to a constantly increasing number of the youth in our community. He has brought honor and renown to the School and has made of it his life work. It is pleasant to be able to tell you that, while Dr. Tillinghast wishes to relinquish his active duties as Principal, he has consented to remain as a Trustee of Horace Mann, so that all of us may continue to have the benefit of his broad experience and judgment."

Dr. Tillinghast, twice an Alumni Trustee of Brown, has been President of the Headmasters Association of the United States, the Association of Country Day Schools of the United States, and the Middle States Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools. He has been active in many educational fields and in the councils of the Baptist denomination.

"We have persuaded Dr. Tillinghast," said the Trustees, "that there must be a time at which all of us, alumni, parents, faculty, students, and all of the many friends of the School, may join in properly wishing him well. He has agreed to such a plan, and the date of May 18th next has been set for some fitting occasion." His successor at Horace Mann will be Dr. Mitchell Gratwick, presently Headmaster of Hackley School, Tarrytown, N. Y. ◀

Boston Pops Night May 8

▶ BROWN-PEMBROKE night at the Boston Pops will be observed this year on May 8. The concert in Symphony Hall will commence at 8:30. Arthur Fiedler conducting. A feature will be numbers by the Brown-Pembroke Chorus and Glee Clubs. Announcement comes from Co-Chairman Homer M. Clark '07 of the sponsoring Boston Brown Club. ◀

Far off from College Hill ◀ ◀

▶ ▶ THERE PROBABLY HAS BEEN no period just like it in Brown alumni activity. It is usually not feasible in terms of time and financing, but the winter has seen more visitors than ever before to the remoter areas where Brown populations are comparatively small. It is the sort or thing one wishes could happen regularly; this year a combination of circumstances has made it possible.

President Wriston has found it possible to go to the Pacific Coast, with Brown gatherings scheduled in Los Angeles, San Francisco, Portland, and Seattle. Also involved are certain duties as President of the Association of American Universities and as member of its Commission on the Financing of Higher Education.

The editor of this magazine, in his extra-curricular capacity as President of the American Alumni Council, has been attending district conferences of its members in various parts of the country.

Rip Engle journeyed to Alabama as one of the coaches in the Blue-Gray game, with stops at way stations to meet with Brown men.

The Admissions Officers, notably Dean Emery R. Walker, Jr., have been almost as active as last year in visits to schools as far as the Rocky Mountain area, with collateral alumni contacts. Before the year is out the Admissions men will have been at more than 300 secondary schools in 30 States.

During the Christmas holidays Brunonians in Michigan and Colorado had the fun and excitement of seeing the Brown hockey team in action. They took appropriate measures to greet the players and cheer them in action. So, too, did the alumni in New York State, where the basketball team travelled for four contests.

On top of all this has been special activity on behalf of the Housing and Development Campaign which has taken its staff and field workers on intensive visitation.

The results of all this activity have been unusual. In Atlanta, for example, where it is not often possible to send a visitor from the campus (and doesn't need to, with Trustee Eugene O'Brien in close touch), there were four different guests, each royally received. Colorado had meetings within a fortnight for the hockey team, Worthington, and Walker. There were double-headers in Omaha, Houston, and New Orleans, where just one has been a year's maximum.

They are fine alumni in those distant points (distant from the campus, that is), valiant and staunch in their loyalty, making Brown better known, bringing reputation by their careers and sense of community responsibility. They are eager to know about old friends and older Brown, eager to know how to serve her where there are so few to work with them, exceptional in their hospitality to the visitors, and gaining great satisfaction at adding to their company the good, younger alumni of these recent years. It would be an inspiration to some of the larger Brown Clubs nearer College Hill to see their loyalty and, for all their just, local pride, their homesickness for a bit of Brown.

The problem of financing long road trips for visits with the Brown groups has often been discussed in the Alumni Office and in meetings of the Associated Alumni. Within the obvious limitations of budgeting time and money in order to send campus spokesmen very far from College Hill, there has been unusual co-operation with the Brown Clubs and smaller, less organized units. There has also been full understanding by those at a distance that the time and money referred to must be spent where they will serve the greatest numbers and with the greatest effectiveness to the alumni program. The expenses involved, where they cannot be shared with the local group, must be a charge against the travel budget of the Alumni Office, which is an expendable but not an expandable figure.

Incidentally, local planning months in advance would permit more economical travel and better service, eliminating the need for special trips for one meeting and tying in several meetings in one swing. A journey that might not be justified by one gathering might be justified by three or four adjacent in time and location. ◀

Wriston to the Coast

▶ FEBRUARY was a month for roving for President Wriston, as his itinerary took him to the Pacific Coast. Leaving New York on the day after the Board of Fellows meeting, he was due in Los Angeles on the 12th. He would be back in Providence Feb. 27 after meetings with alumni in Los Angeles, San Francisco, Portland, Ore., and Seattle. His visit to the Pacific Northwest will be the first by a Brown official since before the war.

Dr. Wriston is President of the Association of American Universities, which has a special committee studying the financing of higher education under Carnegie and Rockefeller grants. He will attend meetings of that commission in Pasadena.

In Los Angeles he will dine with the Brown Club on Feb. 14 (6:30 at the University Club). The next evening he is to be the speaker at a meeting of the Friends of the Colleges at Claremont, being held at the California Club in Los Angeles. His engagement with the Brown Club of Alta California in San Francisco is for the evening of the 17th. After a day at Leland Stanford, where Dean Merrill Bennett '19 will be his host, the President moves on to the Northwest. His day in Portland will be Feb. 20, and that in Seattle the 22nd. Ashley Greene '21 and Harold Shefelman '20 are making arrangements in the two cities. ◀

Walker's Winter Visits

▶ His primary purpose was to visit schools, but Dean Emery R. Walker, Jr., also called on many Brown alumni, individually and in Clubs, during his recent absence of more than two months from College Hill. Among the areas he reached from November 14 to Feb. 1 were: Milwaukee, Whitefish Bay, Beaver Dam, Delafield, and Wauwatosa, Wis. Grosse Pointe, Detroit, Bloomfield Hills, and Birmingham, Mich. Indianapolis, Culver and Howe, Ind. Hopkins, Minneapolis, St. Paul, and Faribault, Minn. Des Moines, Ia. Kansas City, St. Louis, Clayton, Mexico, Webster Groves, and Kirkwood, Mo. Alton, Lake Forest, Oak Park, Chicago, Evanston, Highland Park, Winnetka, Le Grange, Hinsdale, Riverside, Glen Ellyn, Des Plaines, Barrington, Ill. Omaha, Neb. Denver, Colorado Springs, and Pueblo, Colo. Topeka, Kan. Ponca City, Tulsa, and Oklahoma City, Okla. Fort Worth, Dallas, and Houston, Tex. New Orleans, La. Memphis, Tenn. (Lloyd Cornell, Howard Baetzhold, and J. L. Olmsted, Admission Officers, have done their share of traveling, too—and will.)

Walker's visit meant a lot to the alumni. In Omaha, for example, four of the five Brown men in town had dinner with him: Maj. William Joyce '34, Frank Keogh '43, Joseph Kovarik '48, and Joel Hossie Wright, Jr. '35. Often, as in Denver, he showed color slides of the campus. (Judge Cook '14 arranged the meeting, held at the University Club, with a short talk, too, by Jim Gurll '38, former Alumni Fund Secretary at Brown, now in charge of public relations for Loretto Heights College. Fourteen were present.) In Colorado Springs it was Mr. and Mrs. Pete Simmons '23 and Mr. and Mrs. Joel Webb '36 who talked across the dinner table so agreeably.

In Kansas City it was a luncheon meeting of the Brown Club, presided over by Leon Denison '96. Walker showed his slides to the group, which included L. F. P. Curry '18, Leon Sittenfeld '34, Lyman Friedman '39, Arthur Davis '49, Irving E. Meinrath '45, and Warren Smith '32 of Chicago, in town on business. Topeka's company was almost wholly recruited from the Faculty of Washburn University, including Dean A. G. Sellen '19 and Dr. Harold Conrad '27. The evening in Ponca City was at the home of Dr. Cad Arrendell '39, with the ladies also present. Webster MacMillan '19, Mr. and Mrs. Sam Leonard '48, and Reg Barnes '36 saw the pictures with them.

From Tulsa, Ed Schermerhorn wrote: "When Emery Walker came through town Jan. 19 to talk to the Seniors at Central and Will Rogers High Schools, a group of alumni gathered for luncheon at the Ter-

Standing Invitation

▶ SEVERAL BROWN CLUBS this fall resumed their practice of scheduling weekly or monthly gatherings on regular days. All alumni, resident or transient in the area, are invited to join without formality at these affairs. The first Clubs to report this practice for 1949-1950 are listed here (we solicit additional information from the Club officers):

BALTIMORE, dinner meeting third Thursday of the month, Johns Hopkins Faculty Club, Homewood Campus, 7 p.m.

BOSTON, luncheon second Tuesday of the month at Thompson's Spa, 239 Washington St.

CHICAGO, luncheon every Friday at the Chicago Real Estate Board, 105 W. Madison St., noon.

HARTFORD, luncheon third Wednesday of the month, University Club, 30 Lewis St., 12:15.

INDIANAPOLIS, luncheon first Monday of the month, Charley's Restaurant, 144 East Ohio St., 12:15.

LOS ANGELES, luncheon every Thursday at the Hotel Alexandria, 5th and Spring Sts., noon.

NEW YORK, luncheon last Friday of the month, at the Brown Club, 39 E. 39th St., noon.

PHILADELPHIA, luncheon second Tuesday of the month, Alpha Club, 1911 Chestnut St., 12:15.

ROCHESTER, luncheon first Wednesday of the month, Chamber of Commerce, noon.

SAN FRANCISCO, Brown Club of Alta California, luncheon second Monday of the month, St. Julien Restaurant, 140 Battery St., noon.

race Room of the Mayo Hotel. Those present were: Earl Tucker '13, Wendell Barnes '32, Reg Barnes '36, Ed Schermerhorn '34, Dr. Milton Berg '39, and John Gibson, father of Ted Gibson '53. All were interested in hearing Emery give us information about his work, news of Brown and of the other alumni groups visited in the West."

They are not large groups as Brown Clubs go nearer Providence. But there is a fine loyalty in them and an alert interest in what goes on back on College Hill. Such visits as Walker's mean a lot to them. He had not completed his trip when we went to press. ◀

The Editor's Route

▶ THE AMERICAN ALUMNI COUNCIL, made up of alumni secretaries, fund-raisers, and alumni magazine editors, expects, among other things, that its President will visit each of the district conferences it holds in nine regions of the country. Such trips in the past two months have made it possible for W. C. Worthington '23, ALUMNI MONTHLY editor, also to visit with Brunonians in those same areas. This opportunity was one of the most agreeable aspects of his term as AAC leader, which will end in July.

In Omaha, for example, the first Brown gathering on record was held when Earle V. Johnson '24 came over from Lincoln, Neb., and joined with such local men as Joel Hossie Wright, Jr., '35, Maj. William Joyce '34, and Joseph Kovarik '48. It was a distinct majority of all the available in the State. (Kovarik, incidentally, was allowed by the Navy to spend only one semester at Brown before shipping him along during the war, but he's a good Brown man, just the same.)

Later, in Denver, when Judge Joseph E. Cook '14 passed the word around, the men came out for lunch, among them Gerry Richmond '36, Rev. Walter Williams '22, Luke Kavanaugh '98, Floyd Fay '18, W. Clayton Carpenter '06, James W. Gurll '38, and Frank Merchant '31.

A side-trip from New Orleans made it possible to spend time in Houston at Dick Anderson's with a group, visit with the Jim Whitecombs, and talk with others, like Prof. Kenneth Burdon '18, Burt Liese '28, and Morris Pepper '27, who'd been in an auto accident. Dick Anderson '49 and his wife were hosts to "Pep" Edson '27, Chipman Ela '45, Eirik Furubotn '48, Leo Horvitz '38, Joe Iannoli '32, Bill Kaplan '47, Bill Robbins '29, and Jim Whitecomb '36.

In New Orleans, there was no formal meeting because of the impending visit of Emery Walker, Dean of Admission, but Dr. Dean Echols '27 and his wife came to join Worthington in singing the Brown Alma Mater at a "brulot" in his honor in one of the fine old mansions in the Garden District. Representatives of a score of colleges from Texas, Louisiana, Arkansas, and Mississippi at least hummed the tune. On the campus of Tulane, within a space of 10 minutes, Worthington chatted with Dr. Karlem Riess, former graduate student at Brown; Prof. Russell Geer, formerly of the Brown Faculty and father of a Brunonian; and Dr. H. S. Mayerson '22. Carleton Hale '96, home for the holidays from his duties as Sanitary Engineer of the United Fruit Company, and Harry Coleman '19 were others encountered most pleasantly.

The Gene O'Briens and the Norman Arnolds met Worthington at the airport in Atlanta during his brief stop-over between planes, and in Columbia, S. C., there was not only the tradition of Jonathan Maxcy to investigate but the welcome of Col. Joseph Church '09 and the chat with Dr. Mortimer Berger '31.

Chicago is on the more familiar Brunonian route, but a luncheon with the Brown Club there gave a chance for good small talk. Dr. W. R. Burgess was in town to speak before the bankers' convention, and Miss Amy Falk was hostess to a group that included him, J. R. Ryrie '16, up from Alton, Ronald Kimball, Bill Garvy, Bill Roberts, Jack Derflinger, his father, and other good friends of Brown. Atlantic City's busy schedule permitted only a brief visit with Jack White '21.

Everywhere, it was good to know of Brown's good reputation among the other colleges. ◀

Getting Ready in Philly

▶ ON THE AGENDA for the Dec. 13 and Jan. 10 luncheons of the Philadelphia Brown Club was consideration of the annual banquet to be held early in 1950. In discussing plans, Secretary George C. Myers writes that "we are hoping for an extra large turnout this year."

A big delegation from the Club attended the Columbia football game in New York, and all were pleased with the outcome, Myers reports. The November luncheon was cancelled because of Election Day. ◀

► ► "There's a Brown Team in Town"

Welcoming the Players

► THE ROYAL WELCOME from alumni groups all along the line was an outstanding memory that members of the Brown basketball team brought home with them after their Christmas holiday tour of New York State.

When the squad arrived in Syracuse the morning of Dec. 27, E. C. Drake '24, Brown Club Secretary, had arranged to have four cars meet the players at the station. Eight of the alumni were hosts at an informal luncheon for Coach Morris, Manager DeWitt, John Hanlon of the Providence Journal, the players, and other undergraduates home for vacation. The hosts: H. Duane Bruce '07, President of the Syracuse Brown Club, Clayton A. Burth '46, Henry B. Fancher '35, Irving Newton '28, "Bin" Marshall '40, Harry G. Remington '27, Harrison Van Aken, Jr., '36, and Drake. Bruce and Morris spoke briefly and informally. Some of the alumni then took the squad out to the New York State Fair Coliseum, the scene of the game, where the boys worked out for an hour.

"It was a pleasure to have the team here and to entertain them," one of the Syracuse alumni wrote. He noted among other Brunonians backing the team: Dallas Trammel '50, E. C. Drake, Jr., '52, Robert Hill '52, Malcolm Winne '52, of Utica, James B. DeForest '50 of Rochester, Tekla Torrell, Pembroke '51, and Harvey Sheahan '17.

The Buffalo Brown Club held its annual Winter Dinner in conjunction with the team's visit there to play St. Bonaventure. Twenty-five members attended the dinner at the Buffalo Athletic Club, with the dozen players also present. Paul Rohrdanz '41, President of the fast-growing Brown Club, was master of ceremonies. A few words were heard from Dr. Harry Rockwell '03, President of the Buffalo State Teachers College; Lou Berger '41, Brown Club Secretary; John Hanlon of the Journal; Howard Baetzhold '44, Admissions Officer at Brown; and Coach Morris. The last introduced each member of the squad ("Not only a good team but one of the few amateur teams in the country," he remarked.)

The following day Rohrdanz, Berger, Doug Whiteside '36, and Sy Seifert '50 drove the team to Niagara Falls, where the sights were viewed from both American and Canadian sides. That night 50 alumni, families and friends cheered the Brown Bear. "We were of one opinion—that this was a fine group of Brown men, led by a fine coach and true gentleman, Bob Morris. We hope they come back again soon," wrote Berger.

In addition to those previously mentioned, other Brunonians on hand at the functions were: Dick Rieser '36, Seth Abbott '42, Tom Abbott '49, Herb Astmann '32, Bob King '48, Walter Henry '36, Al Scialfo '41, Bob Neary '47, Andy Hillhouse '19 (and his son John, a subfreshman), George Davis '41, Bill Fay '18, Donn Bramley '45, Jim Gregory '43, Bill Barton '47, and several undergraduates including Bill Nenno, Howie Wentzel, Ros Park, and Hal Bergwall.

In Rochester on Dec. 30 about 30 were on hand at the University Club for the dinner of the Brown Club members and squad.

Five undergraduates home for Christmas were also there: Jim DeForest, Bob Smith, Bob Titus, Jason Becker, and L. E. Branagan. Other local Brown men were: E. McGuire '33, G. Hebner '15, Robert Lowenthal '34, Dave Flint '42, A. D. Johnson '30, G. Slade '39, T. Pevcar '28, Bailie Cantrell '28, M. Brown '19, R. Meredith '43, E. Cristy '16, and Dr. Ralph Honiss '08, Dr. Wilbour Sanders '16, President of Colgate Rochester Divinity School, spoke briefly, comparing English and American approaches to sports. William R. Dorman '92, former Trustee, also welcomed the visitors.

"We were all impressed with the clean-cut, top-quality men who make up the Brown basketball team," wrote Secretary Dave Flint.

On the Hockey Route

► WHEN THE VARSITY HOCKEY players went touring at Christmas time, alumni in Michigan and Colorado made the most of their unusual opportunity to welcome a visiting Brown team. The boys and Coach Moulton enjoyed wonderful hospitality, they reported.

In Ann Arbor, Provost James P. Adams, former Vice-President and honorary alumnus of Brown, showed the squad his own brand of generous hospitality. They toured the campus in University of Michigan cars, seeing all the sights of the area, he visited the squad dinner to wish them all well, and he showed an admirable non-partisan attitude at the games. He made a great hit with the Brunonians.

THE BROWN BASKETBALL TEAM enjoyed the hospitality of the Rochester Brown Club during its Christmas tour. The meal at the University Club above was a fine example of alumni-student relations.

BROWN ALUMNI MONTHLY

Arriving in Denver, the team was met at the station (8:30 in the morning, too) by Judge Joseph E. Cook '14, President of the Rocky Mountain Brown Club. The alumni group at a luncheon at the Cosmopolitan Hotel included Frank Merchant, Dr. Arthur Woodburne, Cyrus Allen, Floyd Fay, Tom Lovett, and others. A trip to the famous Denver Museum of Natural History was part of the afternoon entertainment. Brown supporters in Denver had a block of 40 seats at the Denver University game, while some of them also journeyed to Colorado Springs for the contests against Colorado College.

At the Springs Harrie Hart, Joel Webb, T. G. Simmons, and Tim Collins participated in the welcome, providing a trip up Cheyenne Mountain and even helping out with the oxygen tank at the games.

The boys made a fine impression everywhere.

New Haven's Hockey Date

► NEW HAVEN alumni were awaiting their annual hockey dinner Feb. 18 when they and their families were to get together before the Brown-Yale game at the New Haven Arena Feb. 18. The encounter is a Pentagonal League one, with expectations high.

Charles E. H. Williams '38 was elected President of the New Haven Brown Club at its annual meeting the night before the Yale football game. Serving with him this year are: Vice-Presidents—Charles E. Spencer 3rd '42 and Wilfred C. Broadbent '39; Treasurer—Donald H. Holmes '46; Secretary—John C. Braman '40; Executive Committee—Clarence W. Miller '12, Past President, Roland C. Copeland '15, and Jerome Gratenstein '36.

Miller, who presided ably, turned the meeting over to Hockey Coach Moulton, who gave an entertaining and informative briefing on the winter season. Athletic Director Mackesey gave a few well-turned and avidly received comments on the athletic picture as a whole, with particular emphasis on football. Ernie Savignano previewed the Yale game and showed Holy Cross movies to demonstrate the style of football played during the season. The refreshments which followed were up to the usual Taft standard.

JOHN C. BRAMAN

A Baltimore Caravan

► WHEN BROWN PLAYS NAVY in basketball Feb. 18, the Baltimore Brown Club will have a junket for members and their families, as well as Pembroke families in the area. Rust Scott '17 has worked out the plan for a motor caravan to Annapolis, leaving Sun Square in downtown Baltimore at 1 o'clock. (Game time is 2:30.) Dinner later may be arranged. The Washington Brown Club is also expected to have a delegation on hand for the contest in Dahlgren Hall.

March 1 is the date for the dinner at the Johns Hopkins Faculty Club when Brown men and Pembroke women and their families are to hear Coach Rip Engle and see movies of his team in action last fall. Because of this extra activity, there will be no February dinner on the regular date. Thereafter, however, the schedule will be resumed with dinner at the Hopkins Faculty Club on the third Thursday of each month.

Jim Armstrong was the speaker at the Jan. 18 dinner, talking about the oil industry, from the geological development through ancient uses, the development of the industry in this country, and on into the present day. He described fundamental processes and some of the current problems, the latter leading into a general question-and-answer period ("when I had the answers," says Armstrong). Present were C. P. Ives '25, Dr. Ray Hawes '12, Vernon Chase '28, Bill Flack '34, Dr. Israel Goldman, Bill Heaviside '43, Ed Hodsdon '29, Hal Madison '31, Dave Rothar '45, Rollo Silver '31, Russ Wonderlic '27, Bill Connor '49. At an earlier meeting Heaviside gave an informal picture of the Mathieson Chemical Co., his employer, its history, and present activities. In addition to many of the above, there were also present: Glenn Stacy '47, Charles Lovenburg '48, John Mealy '48, and Gene Edgett '48.

Engle of the Blues

► RIP ENGLE'S venture south to coach in the Blue-Gray football game during the New Year's holiday gave his Brunonian admirers a chance to greet him. The fact that he also had two of his Brown players on the squad, Don Colo and John Scott, inspired William E. Cavanagh '29 to get the alumni in and near Montgomery, Ala., together for a welcome. Something in the way of a small but permanent Brown Club may come out of his initiative, which was aided by Alumni Secretary McCornick.

On his way home Coach Engle was entertained by the Brown Club of Atlanta in Georgia, at East Lake Country Club. Eugene O'Brien '19 made the arrangements, inviting as special guests W. A. Alexander and Bobby Dodd of Georgia Tech. The luncheon group included: O. B. Keeler, Maj. Gen. William C. Chase '16, Chief of Staff Third Army, Fort McPherson, Norman Arnold, Harry Glancy, Earl Metzger, and Jim Shumake. Mrs. Engle was also introduced to Atlanta by Mrs. O'Brien.

Chicago Makes a Date

►► CHICAGO'S BIG NEWS is that the annual Brown Club banquet will be held Tuesday evening, April 25, at the University Club. President Wriston will speak. Save the date, you Middle West alumni. (Present intention is to make it a stag affair this year.)

They're still talking about the traditional Christmas luncheon, which drew more than 100 undergraduates, their fathers, alumni, prospective Freshmen and high school coaches to hear Athletic Director Paul F. Mackesey '32 on Dec. 29. Mackesey explained some of the problems confronting him when he assumed his post and the progress made to date. Particular tribute was paid to the 1949 football team because of its victory record and academic standing above the college average. Films of the Harvard game were interpreted by Mackesey, while other pictures of teams and campus activities rounded out the program.

Brown's official entry into Ivy League football, Eastern Intercollegiate Baseball League, and other leagues in track, hockey, soccer, and wrestling have been major strides in her athletic progress, according to Mackesey.

The promise of a Chicago appearance of a Brown basketball or hockey team was enthusiastically received. In particular, Mackesey expressed a desire to meet Dartmouth in hockey in Chicago, providing suitable ice could be found. One alumnus blurted out: "We'll get the ice; you bring the team!"

Trustees James L. Palmer '19 and Ronald M. Kimball '18 received ovations, as did Chicago's football manager, Mansfield Templeton '51. Dean Emery R. Walker Jr., '39, vacationing in his native Oak Park, was on hand, as was Placement Director James A. Cunningham '41 from Providence.

Those present included: Donald Alden '49, Vern Alden '45, W. F. Archibald '32, Fred P. Bassett, Jr., '33, F. D. Bateman '25, James R. Bremner '34, F. A. Brown '26, Ralph M. Brown '25, R. Harper Brown '45, R. K. Connell '26, Jack Derflinger '40, Willard P. Engelhard, Jr., '49, H. R. Faulkner '23, Ellis Fuqua '45, William J. Garvy, Jr., '38, J. G. Getz, Jr., '28, Warren Groce '35, Ralph G. Johnson '05, William Kaiser '43, Otto Kerner, Jr., '30, Howard Krasur '44, Emile LeGros '41, Robert I. Logan '40, Glenn A. McGee '42, T. G. Maheras '41, Robert Mareneck '46, Robert Metcalfe '48, John J. Monk '24, Virgil Nerad '28, Arthur Oppenheimer '39, Jack Pierce '36, Norman Pierce '33, George O. Podd '20, George Playe '39, Ed Read '35, George Rich '44, William J. Roberts '42, Norman P. Ross '42, Sam Sherer '40, Arthur F. Siebel '30, Warren Smith '32, Hal Stege '41, J. L. Strauss '28, Harold Summerfield '23.

"Open House" at Brown

▶▶ RESUMING A PROGRAM which was an overwhelming success a year ago, the Rhode Island Brown Club announces for its members, their families and guests a series of four "open houses" under the auspices of Departments at Brown University, starting Feb. 22. Last winter several hundred attended informal talks, inspected equipment, and watched experiments on College Hill. The visits then brought the alumni in touch with Biology, English, and Physics Departments and the John Carter Brown Library.

The 1950 series has been arranged with the co-operation of four other Departments which lend themselves well to this sort of "open house" exposition. The first, on Washington's Birthday, a Wednesday, will be provided by the Chemistry Department in the Metcalf Laboratory. The other evenings, on successive weeks, will all be Tuesdays: Feb. 28—Astronomy, Ladd Observatory, Prof. Charles A. Smiley. March 7—Art, the Studio, 7 Manning St., just behind Brunonia. March 14—Psychology, meeting first in Manning Hall with visits to the laboratories to follow.

The Brown Club committee includes: William R. Potter '42, Chairman, Knight Edwards '45, E. John Lownes '23, and Dr. Bruce M. Bigelow '24. Members of the Faculty co-operating are: Prof. James Coles, Prof. Charles A. Smiley, Prof. George Downing, Prof. Harold Schlosberg, and Prof. Walter S. Hunter.

The current winter must go down as the busiest in Rhode Island Brown Club activity, as well as one of the best. In addition to the open houses, the Club feted the football team, joined with Yale alumni in the interests of hockey, watched the Sock and Buskin Alumni production, and scheduled a Pops Concert by the Brown-Pembroke Orchestra.

The entire Brown football squad was invited to the dinner Jan. 10 at Johnson's Grille Stadium in Providence when the Club offered its testimonial to an outstanding season. The guests heard pleasant and deserved compliments from Club President Lownes, Coach Engle, and Nils "Swede" Nelson of Boston. It was a good evening, with a sprinkling of schoolboys also present.

About 250 alumni and guests attended the dinner for the gridgers. Other speakers were Dean Kenny, Barney Madden, Journal sports editor, and Coach Engle, with Tom Gilbane as toastmaster. Others at the head table were Captain-elect Hill, the 1949 co-Captains Paterno and Scott, Athletic Director Mackesey, President John Lownes and Past President J. W. Riker. Films of football completed the program, arranged by Foster B. Davis, Jr., Paul F. Gleeson, Samuel B. Levy, Lewis S. Milner, Ernest T. Savignano, Norman L. Silverman, Paul W. Welch, and Chairman J. Richmond Fales.

The Club bought out the house for a special preview performance of "The Marquise," Noel Coward's high comedy, when it was presented as the 1950 production by the Sock and Buskin Alumni. The house was comfortably filled Jan. 25 in Faunce House Theatre. Special features included a welcome by William Brightman for the Club and between-the-acts refreshments in the foyer. This was the second year in a row that the members have enjoyed a free Sock and Buskin night.

Foes of the evening on the ice of R. I. Auditorium, Brown and Yale joined forces at Howard Johnson's nearby for dinner before the game Feb. 7. Paul Mackesey was toastmaster, and the speakers were the rival coaches: Murray Murdock of Yale, former New York Ranger star, and Wecky Moulton '31, Brown's former All-American. The two Club Presidents (John Congdon of Yale and Lownes of Brown) brought greetings from their respective organizations. A broom hockey game provided amusing entertainment before the Varsity game, while there was also exhibition and public skating. The committee: For Yale—Robert S. Davis '42 and Douglas Franchot '45; for Brown—Jackson H. Skillings '37 and Foster B. Davis, Jr., '39.

The annual Pops Concert by the Brown-Pembroke Concert was scheduled for Feb. 15 in Alumnae Hall. The affair has proven a popular draw for several years.

Thomas B. Appleget '17, new Vice-President of Brown, was the guest and speaker at the Nov. 22 dinner of the Rhode Island Club at the Wannamoisett. Athletic Director Mackesey and the coaches were on hand, while Coach Engle interpreted the Columbia game movies.

Change of Command

▶ DONALD L. RANARD '40 will head the Brown Club of Washington, D. C., during 1950. He was elected at the Club's annual meeting Jan. 17 to succeed George Hurley, Jr. '41.

Fifty-seven were present at the National Press Club to hear Vice-President Bigelow's discourse on "What I like About Brown." Senator Theodore Francis Green '87 and Governor Norman S. Case '08 added words of welcome to those of President Hurley's.

Other officers elected were: James L. Minicus '31, Vice-President; Ross A. DeMatteo '35 (re-elected) Treasurer; and Charles T. Lloyd '42, Secretary. George Hurley, Jr. and Paul Howard '35 were elected to the Board of Governors. The Advisory Council will consist of Norman Tietjens '25, Arthur Sundlin '11, Senator Green, Winthrop Southworth, Jr. '30, and Irving White '16.

Others present at the meeting were: James Wilson '39, Ben Shulman '35, John Tsitsos '36, James Murdock, Jr. '46, Dick Uhle '40, Walter Goodwin '10, John French '25, Arthur F. Newell '38, Warren B. Francis '29, Dave A. Wood '44, Walt Porter '34, Horace R. Booth '36, Bill Carroll '45, Frank Huddle '35, Harold Seidman '34, Dick Walsh '37, Elliot Salter '46, Paul Harrison '42, Robert von der Lieth '46, Herbert W. Dodge '47, Stephen W. Pournaras '42, Robert Sykes '39, James Wilmot '08, Arvid Willen '48, Tom Schlesinger '44, Gene Hart '33, Jack Ewan '33, Howard Coffin '01, Hal Master '27, John J. Bauer '25, W. R. Boger '26, Leonard L. Leimbach '46, Tom McCabe '40, Ed Fox

Formality in St. Louis

► If you'd asked us, we'd have told you we had a Brown Club in St. Louis all along. It's been a good group and an active one. But word comes now that the Brown University Club of St. Louis has been formally organized. The official birth came early in December when Dean Emery Walker was a visitor. At that time by-laws were adopted and a formal organization set up with the following officers:

Honorary President—John B. Edwards; President—Chapin S. Newhard; Vice-President—J. A. Rogers; Secretary—C. B. Calfee; Treasurer—R. M. Meyer; Executive Committee—the officers and Charles Rubicam, Allen Williams, Sr., Kenneth Bitting, John Lyman, John C. Mosby, and Warren Chandler.

Since the Club's principal purpose will be to help the Admissions Office, a major committee is that on Schools and Scholarship; Rogers, chairman, Charles D. Kean, Martin Lammert IV, Creighton Calfee, and Allen Williams, Jr. Rubicam will be in charge of meetings and entertainment, assisted by Arthur Feuerbacher, Robert Webb, and J. O. Cutter. Publicity will be handled by Martin Lammert and Thomas Moore, with the former as chairman.

In view of Newhard's long and faithful work, the members insisted that he should take the presidency, and he agreed to carry on for a year. He has seen the Brown population in the St. Louis area grow to the point where there are currently 24 boys in college in spite of the fact that the alumni body is only 54. This outstanding four-year record has helped rekindle enthusiasm among the alumni, and graduations will add young members to the present group.

The Club had its first Fathers and Sons luncheon Dec. 30 in honor of undergraduates home for the holidays. Also invited were outstanding prospective members of the Class of 1954 and their fathers. It was the largest Brown gathering in St. Louis history, with 74 in attendance. As the group's senior, Edwards '96 gave a short welcoming talk that was splendid. Athletic Director Paul Mackesey was presented by Newhard, doing a good job with news in general and comment on the movies of the Harvard game.

The Engineers Elect

► H. D. WILSON '29 of the Western Electric Co. was elected President of the Brown Engineering Association in the annual balloting, results of which were announced at the 37th midwinter dinner, held Dec. 1 at the Fifth Avenue Hotel. Other officers designated were: Vice-President—Prof. A. J. Warren of the Division of Engineering at Brown; Secretary-Treasurer—J. J. Scofield '15, real estate and real estate financier; Directors—J. S. Leon '44 of M. Castellini, Inc., and F. Blauvelt '46 of Owens-Corning Fiberglass Corp., both of New York; and W. A. Mengel '43 of Tek Bearing Co., Inc., Providence.

President Wriston was the principal speaker at the annual dinner, while Alumni President William W. Browne '08 was toastmaster. Other guests were Alumni Secretary McCormick and Prof. Zenas Bliss.

At the New York Club

► BECAUSE of its size, much of the effective work of the Brown University Club in New York is done through committees. Among the most important, with their personnel, are: Membership—William B. Bateman, Willard C. Butcher, Mark D. McClain, Charles C. Tillinghast, Jr., Donald V. Reed, Emil Talamini. Activities—Joseph N. Micucci, Chairman, Everett R. Alden, Edward Sulzberger, James Jemail, J. Gordon Fraser, Donald Flynn, Lyman Bloomingdale, David Balfour. Admissions—William L. Dewart, Robert G. Inman, Myron Sulzberger, Charles H. Huggins, William W. Browne, Charles H. Daly, Balfour, Micucci, and Alden. House—Charles H. Cuddeback, William H. Schofield, Donald G. Millar, LeRoy Clayfield, Robert P. Breeding, Philip Lukin. Publications—Robert V. Cronan, William F. Flower, Daly.

The Brown Club squash team is playing weekly in the Metropolitan Class "C" League, with Bill Broadhurst, Bob Fuller, Dave Coogan, and Ray Manfredi as representatives.

The Club has maintained a scholarship fund and helped worthy students who were accepted for admission to Brown. Conforming to a practice used in many other college clubs in New York, the Brown group now encourages the charge of a dollar a month against the member's account. The funds created by this voluntary move are transferred to a special scholarship account administered by the Scholarship Committee, cooperating with University officials.

A large and enthusiastic crowd greeted Rip Engle upon his appearance at the Club Luncheon held in the Landon Room Dec. 9. He hit the highlights of the season and spent much of his time answering questions, as the meeting developed into a discussion of Brown football, past and future. Ernie Savignano, Assistant Director of Athletics, was another speaker, with Ralph M. Palmer '10 as toastmaster.

For the present, all hands are turning to in the determination to make the annual New York Dinner of the Sons of Brown a memorable one. The date is March 23rd.

► THE NEWLY FORMED Brown Club of Long Island recently sponsored in two local theatres a display of Brown photographs and literature. The occasion was the opening of the new two million dollar Calderon Theatre in Hempstead, which is to be a part of Levittown, an all veterans community.

The News Bureau supplied the photographs and material to R. Douglas Davis '41, who headed the committee in charge of arrangements. The displays consisted of a panel of three enlarged campus scenes, a current football schedule, copies of the University catalogue and a register where those interested might apply for additional information.

Plainfield's Program

► EACH month brought its meeting last fall for the Plainfield Area Section of Brown Alumni, each with a new emphasis.

The first was the annual football smoker Oct. 14, the night before the Princeton game, at the Park Hotel in Plainfield, N. J. The ever-popular affair featured talks by Athletic Director Paul Mackesey, Coach Rip Engle, and Ernie Savignano. The films shown were those of the 1949 Holy Cross game.

In November the alumni group entertained prospective college men and their respective high school principals at a meeting in the Plainfield YMCA. Lloyd Cornell, Admission Officer, gave an illustrated talk on how to choose a college, the general admissions picture in the colleges today, and admission to Brown, specifically. Several high schools in the region were represented, including Plainfield, North Plainfield, Westfield, and Scotch Plains. Assisting with arrangements were Charles Walz, Jr., '37, chairman, Donald R. Parker '43, treasurer, Charles Benz '32, program chairman, Joseph Burwell '13, retiring chairman of the Group, and Al Logan '42, secretary.

AL LOGAN

Evening at the Dyers

► THE Indianapolis Brown Club, in addition to its monthly schedule of luncheons, had a special event in the program on Dec. 6 prompted by Dean Emery Walker's visit. The alumni gathered at the home of William A. Dyer, Jr., '24 to hear his news and comment, look at his pictures, and also see some football movies sent out by the Brown Athletic Office.

Love-Story by Bigelow

► VICE-PRESIDENT BRUCE M. Bigelow was the speaker at the December 13 luncheon of the Brown Club of Boston, with a large group of his friends turning out to hear him at Thompson's Spa. His topic was "Why I Like Brown," an amusing, informing, and inspiring justification of a sentiment shared by so many. Richard E. Hale was chairman of arrangements.

DR. HARRY W. ROCKWELL '03 celebrated last fall his 30th anniversary as President of New York State University's Teachers' College at Buffalo. He has seen his institution grow from a Normal School with a two-year curriculum and 275 students to a four-year college with 2,000 students. Fifteen thousand diplomas and degrees have been conferred. Dr. Rockwell, recipient of an honorary degree from Brown in 1922, has been President of the American Association of Teachers Colleges and of the Buffalo Brown Club. (Photo from State U Newsletter)

In the Whaling City

► ONE OF THE BEST alumni meetings New Bedford has known came when the Brown Club held its annual dinner and election of officers Jan. 31. Leonard D. LeValley '39 will lead the Club, with the rest of the slate made up of: Vice-President—Howard C. Renfrew '42; Secretary-Treasurer—Jack M. Rosenberg '42, re-elected; Directors—Dr. Joshua H. Weeks '19, Chester M. Downing '18, and John H. Read '37.

William B. McCormick '23, Alumni Secretary, brought the group up to date on happenings on the Hill, discussing the Housing and Development Fund, enrollment, and alumni organization in lively fashion. There was a good question period and hull session, with all hands taking part. The Brown-Colgate football film created a lot of interest, with End Coach Bob Priestley showing the pictures and giving a fascinating running account of the action.

Those attending, in addition to the above, were: Richard D. Tucker '06, Martin Miller '49, Eugene P. Setteducati '49, Lester D. Arstark '48, Howard W. Young '44, Bernard H. Herman '46, Paul S.

Kramer '42, Philip Bronsiegel '36, John F. Gracia '38, Dr. Milton T. MacDonald '26, Ernest A. Scholze '13, Edwin C. Brady '23, John R. Beach '32, Winston S. Dodge '29, Edward S. Burkle '36, Dr. William L. Jenney '43, Lawrence Mueller of Fall River, and Charles Dvorak.

JACK ROSENBERG

The Brown Navy Club

► REAR ADMIRAL Cato D. Glover, USN, Commander of Fleet Air Wing, Quonset, will be the speaker on March 16 for the Brown Navy Club, Club President Warren R. Campbell '21 has announced. Admiral Glover's topic will be "Organization and Function of the Department of Defense." He will give particular emphasis to the work of the Joint Chiefs of Staff.

The meeting, which will be held in Lyman Hall at 8:00 P.M., will be open to club members only. All alumni, faculty and administration members with present or former Navy connections are eligible for membership, however, and are invited to apply through the Secretary, A. S. Cleaves '28, Lyman Hall.

Goals For and Against ◀ ◀

A Great Year on Ice

►► ALTHOUGH Brown's hockey team had lost seven of 13 contests at the end of January, it could take some consolation in the fact that five of the defeats had been at the hands of three teams ranked one-two-three for national honors. The champions of last winter, Boston College, administered the first beating, Michigan, winner of some 20 straight games last season, took both games during the Christmas trip, and Colorado College accounted for another pair. Boston University, which hopes to accompany B.C. to the national tourney, took two games from the Bears as well, one of them in overtime.

On the other hand, Brown had triumphed against Harvard in her first two Ivy League games, while a 12-3 trouncing of Army at West Point was further satisfaction. February games were all to be against Pentagonal League foes, Yale, Princeton, and Dartmouth.

In our last issue we told of the keenly fought games in Ann Arbor and the two one-sided victories over Denver. The ambitious Christmas trip ended at Colorado Springs against the Colorado College powerhouse. The Tigers had the hardest battles of the season although the Bears were traveling with only a 12-man squad and had mile-high altitude to contend with. Although C.C. had not before trailed all year, Brown took a 4-2 lead in the first period. Seven straight Tiger tallies in the second told the story, followed by an even split of three goals each in the final period, "one of the wildest seen in recent years at the Broadmoor Ice Palace." Sennott had three goals for Brown, while Priestley scored twice unassisted in the third session. Whiston had 42 stops against 33 for his Tiger rival. In the second game Brown was again the first to score; it was 1-1 at the end of the first period, and Colorado broke a 3-3 deadlock half a minute before the time ran out in the second. Manpower told in the last period when Colorado scored four times before Brown could sink its last two points. Again Don Sennott had three goals to his credit.

In Boston the Bruins came from behind twice to tie the score against B.U. and send the game into overtime. While Whiston and Menard were playing a brilliant defensive game, Priestley scored all of Brown's three goals up front. With a break or two, the Bear might have pulled the victory out in the third period, just missing at close range when they had the better of the play. But they were a tired team for the sudden-death session, when Whiston made some remarkable saves only to lose on a rebound after 3:34. Whiston made 40 saves against 24 at the other end of the rink. In the return engagement in Providence Brown sagged after a brilliant start, losing a 3-0 lead built up in the first 10 minutes. The early passing and pressing had the Terriers on the run, but they came back and tied the knot despite Whiston's stubbornness late in the second session. The visitors had all the better of the last period.

Against Army the Brunonians turned in their best job of the year, while West Point was seeing its first hockey of the winter. It was not until late in the third period that the Cadets scored. The 12-3 final was marked by one of the highest scores ever made against the West Pointers. Copeland had a field day for Brown, with four goals and two assists, including a "hat trick" in the first period.

Coach Moulton expected a rugged battle at Cambridge in the return engagement with a Harvard team that had led Brown in Providence 4-2 only to lose in overtime. Again the Bears had to win the hard way, missing opportunities and trailing 3-1 at the first interval. But that was Harvard's last scoring, and Brown racked up an 8-3 triumph. It was Menard's last game for Brown, since he graduated in February. Neither Casey nor Malo, ailing, played, and the former is apparently out for the season after appearing in the lineup just once.

Facing Northeastern, the Bears were slow in starting again in Boston, showing the effects of their three weeks' lay-off during exams. But after ceding a 1-0 lead, they tied it up near the end of the period on a 50-foot screen shot by Shepherd and went ahead on a backhand by Wheeler. Thereafter Brown had little trouble in posting a 7-2 win.

The first game against Dartmouth was called off when ice conditions in Hanover were poor.

The Freshmen have lost only to Harvard, 7-5.

Losses and Rebounds

►► THE BASKETBALL TEAM, after starting in high with four straight successes, ran into trouble thereafter and managed to win only two of the next nine games. Some of them were heartbreakers, however, and the margin of difference was seldom large between winner and loser.

The holiday trip in New York was a case in point, for 12 more points would have enabled the four-game expedition to escape defeat. We've noted the surprise in Syracuse where the Bears had been rated a 24-point underdog but lost only in the last few minutes 54-52. Here is additional comment of interest from E. C. Drake '24:

"The game was certainly a thriller. Our team led the highly vaunted Syracuse team all the way until the last minute or so of play, finally being nosed out by a 'lucky' basket in almost the last second. Coach Morris and the players were very disappointed not to take the game, as they felt—and I did, too—that they had earned it. Brown certainly gained everything around here even in defeat. The local bookies, sports writers, Syracuse alumni, and I suppose even the Syracuse team itself had figured Brown a pushover. They are all shivering in their boots still. As for us sons of Brown, we feel we have a great team."

Next night it was St. Bonaventure in Buffalo, a team not highly regarded until later when it ran its string of victories up beyond 10. The Bruins were not up to the Syracuse form but made a game of it though trailing most of the way. They held a brief lead well along in the first half and were behind 23-20 at the intermission. Then they tied the count twice and came up to 51-49 in the final two minutes, losing 54-51. Corcoran was lost through an injury as Mahoney led the Brown drive with 16 points.

In each game the Bruins were giving away height, but this factor was not so marked against Rochester. Control of the backboards contributed materially to the ► BROWN'S RIP ENGLE was selected as "Rhode Island's coach of the year" by Words Unlimited, organization of sports writers and sportscasters. For this award he defeated Terry Reardon, coach of the R. I. Reds professional hockey team, and Tom Eccleston '32, schoolboy coach at Burrillville High. Fifth in the voting was Lou Farber '29 of East Providence High, while Bob Morris, Brown basketball coach, was next. Presentation of the award was made at the annual winter dinner of Words Unlimited.

Coach of the Year

Schoolboy Athlete of the Year, by similar voting, was Ronnie Quinn of West Warwick, son of Judge Robert E. Quinn '15. He was All-State end in football, All-State catcher (second team), member of State schoolboy golf championship team, and a basketball player.

55-48 triumph over the Rivermen, although the first half was fairly even. Mahoney's mark was 17 points.

In Ithaca Brown couldn't find the target and went for more than 15 minutes without a basket from the floor. Such poor marksmanship was fatal against a club with two platoons all over 6 feet 2 inches in height. Cornell broke out of the fourth tie at 17 minutes of the first half and did not fall behind again. Only Kozak was shooting well for Brown, and he accounted for 13 of the points in the 39-32 defeat. A brilliant basket by Creswell was the last spurt in the final period, bringing the Bears up to 31-27, and the final freeze was all to the advantage of Cornell in the defensive battle. The tour was a great success in terms of alumni interest, but, as someone said, Niagara did not provide the only falls for the Bears.

The same week Army continued undefeated by scoring 51-43 against Brown, which played well in flashes but was shooting less well and driving less hard than the Cadets. Aggressiveness tied it up a couple of times in the second half, but Brown's percentage on shots was only 19 against Army's 30% accuracy. Kozak led Mahoney in scoring 16-14.

A victory string in the Brown series at Kingston which goes back to 1935 was continued by R. I. State Jan. 9. Both teams were even in the field-goal production (no small feat for the Bruins on that miniature court), but Rhody converted 26 of 35 tries from the foul line against only 8 of 23 for Brown. Mahoney, though double-guarded, scored 17 points. Badoian, who didn't make the New York swing, was a surprise starter and went the full time, chosen for his ability with set shots, of which he sank four. Thurrott, one of the 10 ranking members of the Bear squad, did not dress for the game, having voted to enter Naval aviation.

Clicking with a smartness that had been missing for three weeks, Brown scored an easy 69-45 victory over M.I.T. in Providence. The Bears romped to a 19-5 lead before Tech scored a floor basket.

One of its best performances was in vain against Harvard in an exciting combat at Cambridge. The score was tied 10 times, though in the first period Brown had leads as high as 22-13 and was ahead at half-time 23-18. With the gap closed, Harvard won on a "steal" by Rockwell at mid-court and put on the freeze for the last two minutes, holding its 49-48 lead. In the final 10 seconds the Bears had three unsuccessful shots at the basket, and a timer's error, ending the game two seconds too soon, was a note of confusion. Twenty minutes later the play was resumed, but Brown lost the jump-off and the decision. Brown's defensive work limited Harvard to 17 baskets from the floor, two less than the Bears' total. The Crimson converted 20 of 25 foul tries; Brown 10 of 17.

Disheartened by the loss of Mahoney, its defensive stalwart and high-scorer, the Bruins were no match for Holy Cross, rated number one nationally and undefeated since Brown's upset victory in the Boston Garden last winter (20 games previously). The Bears had been out of competition for 20 days, too, and were off form. They stayed within range, 14-12, only for five minutes. "It was simply a case of a giant toying with a midget," John Hanlon reported in the Providence Journal, and the final score was 83-39.

The Freshman humiliation was even more complete, as the Holy Cross yearlings coasted 60-19. The Cubs had won five of eight previously, beating M.I.T. twice, Worcester Tech, Arnold, and Bryant. They bowed to Rhode Island, Harvard, and Connecticut. There is some talent in the ranks, but one sees little to raise extraordinary hopes for Varsity success next year, with several Seniors graduating. ◀

In the Water

▶ IN WINNING five of the first seven meets, the swimmers were most impressive in defeating a favored Williams squad 46-29. Williams, New England champions in six recent years, found Brown nearly at full strength, where last season an epidemic of ear trouble made Patrell and Gray sit the meet out. The Bears took six of nine firsts, including the 300-yard medley relay. That was the race Brown was shooting for, and a strong finish brought a record-breaking 3:8.8. Williams led off with the New England champion, Wineiman, who picked up an eight-foot lead over Patrell. Duncan Gray cut off two feet, and Barlow, swimming anchor, did his 100-yard leg in 52.8 (a second and a half better than he'd ever swum it). He overhauled his foe in the last 25 yards. Brown never relinquished that advantage. Reid of Williams, who won both distance events, set a new pool record in the 440, erasing the mark established only the previous Wednesday by Munson of Yale. Reid was clocked in 4:57.8.

Yale had won eight of the nine events in its first visit to Colgate Hoyt Pool in years. Brown's lone victory came in the 50, where McKelvey and Ray were one-two, and the final reckoning was 48-27. The Elis set three pool records: in the medley relay 2:58.8, supplanting a mark held only since Dec. 16 by Colgate; in the 220 where Farnsworth churned the distance in 2:13.3, taking the honors from Kerry Donovan of La Salle Academy; and in the 440, as noted above. Gates, Patrell, and Gray took seconds for Brown.

Army and Brown split first places, with 4½ apiece, but the Cadets placed two men in every event to pick up the deciding points, 43½-31½. The feature race was the medley relay, where the Army had to set an academy record to nose out the Bruins by .4 second in a 3:00.9 thriller. Wilson, the meet's only double-winner, established new times for the Brown record books in each of his efforts—the 220 and 440 (2:16.1 and 5:02.0). Patrell, bested by McDaniel of the Point in the backstroke leg of the relay, came back to head him in their 150-yard duel. Gray was the best breaststroker in the tank, and the two-freestyle relay quartets were judged in a dead heat, a 3:41.9 performer with Bar-

Three Players "Drafted"

▶ WHEN THE NATIONAL-AMERICAN Football League made its annual draft selections of college players, three Brown athletes were on the list: Don Colo, tackle, was third pick of the Baltimore Colts. Bucky Walters, tackle, was 12th choice of Detroit. Frank Mahoney, end, was 12th draw selection of Philadelphia.

A week earlier, speaking at the NCAA Convention in New York, Brown's coach, Rip Engle, had criticized the draft rule. He said college football will go the way baseball went earlier in the century if the professional football leagues have a chance to gain control over promising college stars before they finish their work for an academic degree. ◀

B.U. was swamped 61-14 and failed to take a single first place despite Watmough's selection of some of his reserves once the complexion of the meet was obvious. In the Freshman meet B.U. won a keenly contested 38-37 affair, decided in the free-style relay. The Cubs were short-handed and had used up their best eligibles by the time the final event was swum. Newhard won two good battles in the short events, while Engelhard took the 200. Brown also won the medley, which didn't matter because the meet was going to be settled in the last event. The Freshmen are used to close ones, having won by one point, lost by one point, and tied a third. ◀

Falls and Decisions

▶ BROWN'S CLEAN SLATE had a close call when the wrestlers journeyed to West Point. Army was leading 16-11 with only one bout remaining, but Heavyweight Chernak rose to the occasion by pinning Benny Davis, another football lineman who had only to stave off a fall to win the meet for the Cadets. It was a stirring performance, but there had been other good bouts: Bob Smart scored a fall, while Dave Michael and Mark Rowe won decisions. The Brown captain, Graham Michael, was decided by the Army Captain 7-6.

Harvard pinned the first defeat on the grapplers, who had previously tied Amherst and beaten B.U. and Tufts. Brown didn't take a bout until the 155-pound class where Dave Michael won, and then Mark Rowe followed with a 6-0 decision, but Zeke Marshall lost the 175s and Chernak's victory by a fall was cheering but not decisive. Yale, too, took its cue for the afternoon of its meet from two early pins. With a 10-0 lead, it turned to the defensive and made Brown do the forcing. Only the Michael brothers won, although three other bouts were close. Donaldson lost in the 145-pound division by eight-tenths of a second of time advantage.

The Freshmen continued to fly high, adding Harvard and Yale to their previous victims. The meet at Cambridge was not decided until the last bout, Brown entering that with only a 13-11 lead. Heavyweight John Hill, who the Brown Daily Herald says had never even seen a wrestling meet until this year, took another decision for the Cubs and decided the issue. Bass, Irons, MacLean, and Eastham each took five-pointers to give them the necessary margin at the end of six bouts in the 20-14 meet with Yale.

Dave Michael has yet to lose a match in his 155-pound class in collegiate ranks. Bill Leitzinger, Williams captain, had a similar record when the two squared off in the January meeting between the two that featured this Varsity meet. The bout was a draw, but Brown won the meet 16-11. The only fall was by Hendricks of Brown. ◀

Track Highlights

▶ WORDS UNLIMITED, the association of sportswriters and sportscasters in Rhode Island, voted Brown's Dick Phillips the "Athlete of the Year" because of his national championships in the high jump. While training in early January, however, the Brunonian broke a blood vessel in his foot, and the winter track meets lost a great drawing card. Making his first start in the Millrose meet in New York Jan. 28, he performed creditably in view of his lay-off, but his 6:4 leap was good only for second place behind his old rival, John Heintzman of Bradley. A week later in the 61st Boston AA meet, he tied for fourth at a height two inches lower.

Best performance of the early season for Brown was that by Josh Tobey in the invitation mile of the Washington Star games. He ran a respectable third behind Wisconsin's great Don Gehrman and the ICAAAA winner, George Wade of Yale.

The two-mile relay team was a winner in the K. of C. meet in Boston Jan. 21, although it alternated the lead with Tufts several times until the last lap. The other victims were MIT, Providence, Holy Cross, and B.U. The time was 11 seconds slower than that of Villanova in a record-breaking relay later in the meet. The mile relayers were second to Harvard but ahead of Maine and B.U. The Freshmen were second to a Georgetown quartet which also broke a record (3:25.7, faster than some Varsity times) but led home Yale and B.U.

The Brown two-mile foursome made people think they were seeing ghosts, Barney Madden reported, for three of the four were Tobeyes. Midgley ran with Josh, Joel, and Jon. They ran fourth in New York behind Syracuse, Princeton, and N.Y.U. but beat Penn State.

The Freshmen were impressive in a dual-meet success over the strong La Salle Academy team 52-20, taking every first except the 300. Three former Rhode Island schoolboys stood out for the Cubs, Tom DiLuglio taking 11 points, with a first in the high jump and seconds in the low hurdles and shot, behind teammates. Sweeney, formerly of La Salle, won the last-named event with a 47½-foot effort. Wood, formerly of Moses Brown, was the 1000 winner, defeating the Conde twins. Brown swept two events, with Molineux, former New Jersey star, breezing in the 600 and Ford, the meet's only double-winner, leading off in the high hurdles. He also took the lows.

The two-mile relay team journeyed to Cambridge to beat Harvard in the season's inaugural. ▶

Reinstatement ◀ ◀

▶ ▶ MAHONEY SAID he'd play. He didn't, apparently, give a second thought to the consequences. The Brown basketball captain had gone up for the weekend to visit one of his Brunonian friends in Everett, Mass. While there he filled in in the lineup of the Mercer Club of Everett in a basketball game against the Dilboy Post American Legion team in nearby Somerville. It couldn't have been much of a game, since no summary or box-score was kept, and only 30 or 40 spectators watched.

As a member of the Eastern College Athletic Conference, Brown University has subscribed to its rules. There were two which had a bearing on what Mahoney did: "A student shall not engage in outside competition in any sport while he is a member of a varsity . . . team in that sport and during the season of the sport in question (except in vacation periods) . . . A student who engages whether in term time or vacation in any athletic contest not arranged or sanctioned by his institution without first securing special permission from the appropriate athletic authority at his institution shall forfeit his rights to represent his institution thereafter in intercollegiate competition."

On Feb. 1 Francis Mahoney found himself ruled ineligible for Brown Varsity competition. His participation in the Somerville game had been called to the attention of the Brown athletic authorities, and Dean Kenny announced the penalty. There was no denying that he had violated the letter of the law; whether he had sinned against the spirit of the law had to be referred elsewhere for judgment.

"Participation in the game was an error of judgment on Mr. Mahoney's part," said the Dean. "I should like to point out that Mr. Mahoney has always been a gentleman both on and off the playing field and that he is a good student. He refused, as did the coach of the basketball team, to resort to evasion when questioned about the game. For this, both Mr. Mahoney and Coach Bob Morris have our respect."

The ineligibility decision came just before Brown was resuming its basketball schedule after the midyear interval of nearly three weeks. Just ahead was a game toward which the team was pointing, with Holy Cross, currently regarded as the nation's best. The Crusaders had not been defeated since Brown, with the aid of Mahoney, did the trick last winter. Athletic Director Mackesey took pains to scotch a rumor that Holy Cross had provided the information about the game in Somerville. No one would regard the Brown Varsity as a one-man team, but Captain Mahoney, a good team player, is tall, outstanding on defense, and a high scorer. His teammates voted unanimously "to attempt to bring about Mahoney's reinstatement as soon as possible," and a delegation waited on the Dean.

It was pointed out that Mahoney took no basketball equipment with him when he left Providence. As a matter of fact, it was a member of the Athletic Department who gave Mahoney and his host a ride on their way for the weekend in Everett; they hitchhiked the rest. Moreover, Coach Morris had urged his players to work out where possible during midyears.

But the rule was on the books, and there was no alternative to the University's course of action. The technical foul was reported promptly to the ECAC's eligibility committee for a final ruling. Brown's suspension holding in the meantime. The committee chairman, Prof. Edward S. Parsons of Northeastern said that if his committee members agreed there were "extenuating circumstances," Mahoney could be reinstated. The others studied the case: Albert E. Humphreys of Bucknell, Eugene Flynn of Holy Cross, R. Kenneth Fairman of Princeton, William D. Murray of Delaware, and Asa Bushnell, conference chairman. Their vote: to restore Mahoney to full athletic standing.

Thus was "Moe" declared eligible to compete in Brown athletics again after seven days standing in the corner. ◀

Merry Christmas

▶ ▶ SIR: A querulous "Townie" who wrote you recently complained because there was no Christmas tree before the Van Wickles Gates at the crest of College Hill. He concluded that there was "no Christmas spirit astir at Brown."

May I merely catalogue a few of the evidences to the contrary, for I consider the University a good neighbor:

1. Again the Brown-Pembroke Chorus and Orchestra gave a free public concert which overflowed Alumnae Hall. This is a neighborly community event which Providence has come to appreciate deeply. It is so splendid that, even though it is broadcast, the program ought to be given where even more persons can attend.

2. The Glee Clubs gave a sponsored broadcast over a New England network, a first-rate Christmas performance. The Chapel Choir was on another program, and those boys are good, too.

3. The Brown Classics Department held its annual Latin Christmas Carol program, and there was another big crowd in Alumnae Hall. This was broadcast, too.

4. The Pembroke Christian Association sponsored its annual Christmas festival—like the other events, free and open to the public. In addition to the Brown-Pembroke Chorus, the participants were the Pembroke Dance Club and the Pembroke Choir.

5. Not counting dances, the Pembroke dormitories held their carol sings and open houses.

6. There was special music for the Brown Chapel services, with Christmas readings.

7. Several of the fraternities held Christmas parties for youngsters from the Plain Street Recreation Center and other groups of underprivileged. You should have seen some of the football players as Santa Claus.

8. In case I forget it next December, I want now to wish "Townie" a Merry Christmas.

The principal emeritus of Springfield Classical High, often regarded as a spokesman for the public school leaders, told his conviction that "unless and until the public is willing to offer its children the opportunities which the independent schools are in a position to offer, society must for its own sake continue the independent schools and give them every encouragement."

When a Man's 90

► "PEOPLE THINK it's a huge joke when a man lives to be 90," said Charles S. Weaver '82 when Atlantic City newspapermen interviewed him on his birthday in January. "When he does the things he always did, they look upon him as a sort of freak."

Weaver walks a couple of miles a day, still rides horseback, and displays a keen interest in sports. People often mistake him for Connie Mack, an acquaintance of long standing. The bad thing about living so long, he said, is that one outlives one's friends. But a stack of birthday greetings indicated that he is still making new ones. Some of them were letters from Brown alumni who saw his recent picture in this magazine, "old boys I thought had forgotten me." They brought back many pleasant memories of the days when Brown football teams used to hold pre-season practices at his Connecticut farm. He is the oldest living member of Phi Gamma Delta.

The class of 1900 is making plans for its 50th Reunion. The first meeting of the Reunion Committee was held at the University Club, Saturday, Jan. 14, with full attendance: Charles G. The plan in general is to bring the members together for Alumni Dinner, Friday night, June 2 and through Sunday, the 4th, with the now historic 1900 Commencement Breakfast at the University Club, Monday, June 5.

Statistics reveal that there are 90 surviving members of the Class—graduates and non-graduates. Great distances separate the 90 men representing the last class of the nineteenth century or the first of the twentieth. Every effort will be made to bring as many as possible back to Brown under the plan which has so long prevailed with 1900—namely, to underwrite the entire cost of reunion and then to invite all members without charge. Further details will be passed on to the MONTHLY when they are definitely confirmed.

His work established the scientific foundation for the national guano operations, valued at millions of dollars a year, the greatest industry in the world based exclusively on conservation and protection of wild life.

George Channing's Girl

▶ YOU NEED NOT BE TOLD that "Gentlemen Prefer Blondes" is one of the great stage hits of the current Broadway season, nor that its star is bubbling, euphoric Carol Channing, whose success is just as sensational. Her portrait of the gold-digger was called by Brooks Atkinson "the most fabulous comic creation of this dreary period in history." And he was typical of all the critics and other writers who threw hats over the windmill in her praise. Magazine covers and magazine features have told all about her. You need not be told all that.

Perhaps you need not be told that Carol's father is George Channing '11, President of the Boston Brown Club and Editor of Christian Science Publishing Society. We did indeed mention the fact when Miss Channing received her first big acclaim a year ago in "Lend an Ear." We mention it again because she's 10 times more famous this winter. ◀

The Battle's On!

▶ LAST FALL the slogans "Whale Yale" and "Hammer Harvard" proved singularly effective. The Class of 1940 now presents another which it believes will be just as potent, come reunion days in June. "Power dive forty-five." We thus accept the challenge of our juniors to meet us on the softball field of battle, if indeed they are men enough (and old enough) to venture into our home park (exact place undecided as this issue goes to press). Weapons and distance: Bats and beer kegs every twenty paces.

We have already started on a rigorous training program: Half-knee bends in the morning, elbow bends at night. All '40 members are urged to adopt this program immediately. It is sure to put our ball players in top shape, and will be good training for other weekend activities as well. Everybody comes—everybody participates—this means you!

indispensable to college growth or, better still, be persuaded that too much attention to athletic sports, or a bad tone in regard to them, hinders college growth, there would probably result a great improvement in the spirit in which intercollegiate contests are conducted: they would come to be regarded as the by-play they really are, and would be carried on in a sportsmanlike way as interesting and profitable amusements."

The speaker was Charles W. Eliot in his annual report as President of Harvard, 1900-1901. We clipped it from the Harvard Alumni Bulletin.

► We'd read about the surfeit of injuries which handicapped the Harvard football squad last fall, but we hadn't appreciated until the other day how well prepared the Crimson was to cope with such mishaps. Not content with one doctor in attendance, in recent years Harvard has utilized a whole corps of consultant specialists. These men are leaders in their particular fields associated with the Harvard Medical School. Each is given, says the Harvard Alumni Bulletin, two tickets to every home game and is asked either to use these seats personally or see that an equally qualified specialist uses them. Since the seat numbers are known, it is easy to call any consultant without delay.

Probably the Harvard Medical School men are accustomed to operating in an amphitheatre, but we shudder to think of how a vast crowd in the stadium at Soldiers Field might turn the head of a stage-struck medical performer.

► THERE was a story in the Brown Daily Herald the morning of December 16 which had this headline: "Brown Congratulated for Fire Hazard Cuts." It told how an officer of an insurance company had given recognition to the University for its "efficient carrying out of recommendations for the protection of classrooms and students' living centers against fire hazards."

The same morning fire broke out near the roof of the Music Building on Prospect St. There was extensive water and smoke damage.
